Appreciation of the Pianola from the Patican

Almost twenty years ago, an Aeolian Grand, the immediate predecessor of the Pianola, was permanently installed in the Vatican. It was the first musical instrument ever to receive this distinguished honor, as authoritatively stated at the time.

Two Warrants of Appointment, one conferred by His Holiness, the late Pope Leo XIII., the other by His Holiness, Pope Pius X., and the bestowal of the Order of St. Sylvestre upon the Aeolian Company's representative, indicate an unprecedented measure of approval from this high source.

His Holiness, Pope Pius X. has expressed his appreciation of the Aeolian Company's most famous instrument—the Pianola—in several letters written by the Papal Secretary, Cardinal Merry del Val, one of which

THE VATICAN, April 29, 1909

The Aeolian Company,

The Holy Father is much pleased with the beautiful Themodist Pianola which you have installed.

Your firm was the first to bring instruments of this kind to the attention of His Holiness, Leo XIII., of happy memory, and He expressed to you His great satisfaction. There is no doubt that your firm may well stand in the first rank amongst those who manufacture instruments of this kind. The Holy Father, Pius X., has instructed me to express to you in His August Name, His appreciation and His good wishes for the success of your enterprise. Kindly receive also my appreciation and the expression of my distinguished esteem.

It is not possible to escape the significance of the extraordinary clientage of the Pianola.

Owned by the Rulers, Nobility, and most distinguished personages of the leading European countries, this instrument occupies a position of international supremacy, attainable by no commercial process whatever, save sheer and unmistakable superiority It is to the public's advantage to know that there is but one

Pianola, and that this instrument is to be obtained in combination only with the five following leading makes of pianos: The Steinway, Weber, Steck, Wheelock and Stuyvesant Pianola Pianos. Prices from $550. upward. Purchasable on easy monthly payments.

When questioned as to the manner of his escape Doliano said that he had secured two pointed iron bars from the foundry of the prison, where he was assigned to work. With these he removed a stone from the roof of his cell, on the top tier, and taking his blanket and the two iron bars he drew himself through the aperture into the space above. This was at 10:30 o'clock on Friday evening. Using the same tools, he made a hole through the roof of the building and found himself in the open air. Near the edge of the roof he found footing on a beam to which the telephone wires leading to the building were attached. He broke off several of these wires and twisted his blanket and the wires into a cord and
